To Whom It May Concern,

It is my absolute pleasure to write this letter of recommendation for Deborah Dotson. Her passion is working hard to be the best she can be in any position she undertakes. There is no task too large or small. She attends to each with the same attention to detail. She thinks through scenarios and makes appropriate accommodations to ensure things run smoothly. Even though she does a brilliant job, Deborah is always looking ahead and applies feedback to constantly improve her services and job performance.

I came to know Deborah when she was an instructional technology trainer. Deborah is a "lifelong learner." She strives to be up to date on knowledge that pertains to her position through research and actively seeking educational opportunities. She returns and gladly shares her knowledge with colleagues. I appreciated the information she brought to our meetings, and we could always count on her help and support to problem solve. Deborah was fantastic at finding ways to improve our technology coaching sessions. Trying new ways to integrate hands-on learning into our sessions constantly looking for better ways to involve learners. The training experience she brought to our group was amazing and she was an excellent sounding board for coaching ideas. As a technology trainer she worked in classrooms on a daily basis and had a multitude of strategies at her fingertips to manage a classroom and engage learners.

Deborah is a "people person" at heart. She never meets a stranger, and can easily strike up a conversation and find common ground with others. Her true strength lies in making people feel at ease and important. In addition, her high energy, detailed organization, and ability to quickly learn new material makes her an excellent addition to any group. I strongly and without hesitation recommend Deborah to any position which she applies.

Best regards,
